PRICE TWO CENTS

SERMON BY LORD BISHOP AT UNIVERSITY SERVICE IN CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL

Modern Education Scored in Stirring Address — Important Message to Students — Must Have Strong, Real Spiritual Basis to One's Life — Fear of God is Paramount to a Foundation of Wisdom — Great Need of Modern Life is a Desire for Truth.

The series of lectures and sermons do not give us the truth but what they think we would like to read. The third element is a knowledge of life. Of course this is something that is completed hardly in a lifetime.

The advantage of a University is this: the student is taken out of the sphere of his former life and put in a little world, a microcosm where he gets experience and is enabled to build up a knowledge of human nature. He learns how to deal with men not only through his classes but through his associations and companionships. The great lesson is that you can only learn life and human nature by studying what is right. True life in the coming in contact with men of your own age. Although at a University things are likely to be a little exaggerated, little harm will come to one's moral life through this exaggeration.

The fourth element is the fear of the Lord which is the beginning of wisdom. How often is a man's judgment perverted by his own particular interests, by his passions, by material things or by a regard for persons. The great ideal is to see things whole and true. It must not be forgotten that the basis of wisdom and the results of your life will only come through a fear of God.

FOUNDED BY CHURCH Universities were founded by the church on principles of religion. They grew out of their interlards, so the human mind has grown out of its tutelage. The secularization of Universities does not seem quite right for the very essence of a University is freedom and this must apply to religion also. The problem of today is a union of the different creeds.

A University must be built on the four principles mentioned above.

- (1) Training the mind for the conduct of life and the acquisition of knowledge.
- (2) The desire for truth.
- (3) A knowledge of life.
- (4) The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom.

The concluding part of the sermon was a message to the students. They have gone out and become members of dedicated to service. How is it that the English constitution has stood strong as an organized society? It has been because of her great Civil Service. The best men from Universities have out and become members of the Civil Service. They have learned and acquired a strong moral sense which makes them incorruptible. They have worked faithfully with no public recognition until the end of their days. The need of a young country, as Canada is the building of a strong, incorruptible Civil Service.

The Bishop concluded his sermon by stressing again the fact that there must be a strong, real spiritual basis to one's life. Speaking of McGill University he pointed out that it was the oldest in Canada, was well known in Europe and that it had helped to build up a people worthy of their country and their race.

Brown: "Say, how do you like that cigar? When you save up two hundred dollars they give you a gramophone."

Smith: "If I smoked two hundred of those things I wouldn't want a gramophone; I'd want a harp."

Science is based upon a desire for truth. The great contribution of science is to make men desire to seek earnestly for truth. This desire for truth is something the modern world needs very much.

Think of our modern journals, they

Approximately 50 co-eds walked unwillingly to classes in the hampering restriction of their feminine apparel recently at Ohio State University, worry that the game of being a boy could last no longer than the duration of their Prom. "They made such splendid men," is the consensus of opinion. "And now that we know it, it is hard to go back to the job of being a girl," the co-eds report.

Much in demand because of the greater number of those who came dressed as little girls, and girls slightly older, these pseudo-masculine escorts danced gayly until the punch ran out, when they either changed their clothes to continue the evening publicly, or returned to their rooms to lay the borrowed clothing carefully away.

Spectators, real men, were shocked to staring silence at the feminine voices which came so naturally from crowds of young "gentlemen" issuing from the dormitories and houses. "But the real triumph," say the co-eds, "came when we were astute enough to keep silent. Then they passed us by without the faintest suspicion."

Another original part of the evening was a broken dance. Each dancer had for his partner a broom. Throwing it down was the signal for changing partners; someone else then took the broom.

JACK WRIGHT WINS TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

Crocker Puts up Great Battle Defending Title

FIGHTING MATCH

McGill's Prospects for Inter-collegiate Tennis Next Week Look Bright

In what were probably the best five sets of tennis ever witnessed on the college courts, Jack Wright won from Wilfred Crocker, 6-1, 6-6, 3-6, 6-8, 6-2, on Saturday afternoon and is now holder of the Vaughan Cup emblematic of the McGill Tennis Championship.

A large number of spectators lined the court five deep on all sides and were kept busy applauding the shots that first one man and then the other, would make. The weather was beautiful although during the first two sets the sun on the east end seemed to bother the players.

The score really does not give a fair indication of the play as nearly every point was fought for by both players, long rallies resulting which kept the crowd on their feet most of the time. Both players were in top form although Wright weakened a little in the second set. They made lovely shots and difficult gets. Wright took the net more than Crocker and excelled on low volleying but Crocker often worked him out of position and made beautiful passes, either cross court shots or down the side lines.

The match was called at about 2:30 p. m. with Mr. John Miller, president of the Quebec Lawn Tennis Association acting as umpire. Wright served first and won the first game after the score went to deuce twice. Crocker then won his service to love. Wright again got his own service, and followed it up by taking the next four games. First set to Wright 6-1.

In the next set Crocker seemed to find himself and took six straight games although three of them went to deuce several times. In this set Crocker was much steadier than Wright and was getting better placements on his forehand and backhand. He scored several points on net cords after a rally and this seemed to upset Wright. Wright's backhand was not so dependable in this set and he made a number of errors. In spite of the fact of the set being love there were a great many long rallies and good shots from both men.

R.V.C. WILL HOLD SPORTS' DAY

Large Entry List for the Various Events

The R. V. C. Annual Sports' Day will be held on October 24th at the Molson Stadium where it has taken place for the past two years. There has always been a great deal of enthusiasm connected with this branch of the College Athletic activities and this year there is no exception to the rule. A most successful practice was held Friday morning behind the R. V. C. a large number of would-be competitors turning out and showing much eagerness in trying their skill in the various events.

The programme this year consists of ten items, five of which are field events and four track events. In addition to these there is the Graduates' Race which always occupies a position of much importance and provides ample excitement and entertainment for both contestant and spectator.

So far two of the back events, the fifty and the hundred yards dash, seem to be considered within the scope of the greatest number of people though most of the other events also have large entry lists. It is hoped, however, that more will sign up for the Hurdles and the Window Jump. The latter is a feature which has not been included in the programme for several years. This year it replaces the Inter-Year.

The staff of the Physical Education Department of the College are very kindly lending their valuable services in coaching the various events. Three practices must be held before the Sports' Day and during these practices the eliminations will take place.

Students must be sure to watch the R. V. C. A. notice board for all notices concerning practices.

CHORAL SOCIETY WILL BE FORMED

To Include Men and Women With Ability for Chorus Singing

Those who watch the "Daily" will have seen a notice calling for a meeting to organize a McGill Choral Society. This would seem to be a new society but in reality it is an extension of the Old Club to include the members of the R. V. C. and other women of the University.

This step was taken partly because of the difficulty in finding high tenors for a male chorus and partly because of the desire to make the Club a real and vital part of the whole University life.

Those who are interested in the musical side of the students life look with great expectation on this new venture and with the hearty support of all the men and women who have ability along this line there is no reason why this society should not become one of the strongest and most useful around the Campus.

The social value of this society in the life of McGill is not to be overlooked for it offers a medium whereby the men and women of all faculties can meet together weekly for their own enjoyment and for the furtherance of the musical life of McGill.

Many matters of importance are to be discussed at Tuesday's meeting and the committee expect a large number to be present.

CITY RUGGER TEAM WINS FROM MCGILL

Montreal Fifteen Too Fast for University

SCORE 20-0

McGill Showed Marked Improvement in Last Half of Contest

The McGill English Rugby team went down before a stronger and swifter aggregation on the old Campus Saturday afternoon, but they went down fighting. The score does not give any clue to the potentialities of the college team.

On the whole the game was fast and interesting from a spectator's point of view—there was far too much fumbling, poor kicking and passing off side work for a number one brand English contest. This was particularly true of the college team in the first half and no doubt accounted for the few tries of their opponents in this period the first being made by Goodwin and converted by Scriven shortly after the commencement of the game. The other tries all made by Turner were not converted leaving a score of 14-0 at half time.

The second half opened with much harder and more skillful playing on both sides and the ball moved up and down the field with rapidity. McGill showed great improvement and her men played hard and seized every opportunity offered them. A penalty kick, however, dropped over by Scriven, added 3 more points to her opponent's score, and again in the last minutes of the game Howard went over for a try.

Many of the men who played Saturday are newcomers, and it is expected that a much stronger aggregation can be put in the field by next Saturday, when Varsity comes.

The Montreal men were all good. Hys, Scriven, Seager, Turner, McDougall and Folkes showing up especially well. For McGill, Wilson, McLean and Blundell played hard for the forwards, and Roome did some good tackling. The work in the McGill backfield was not conspicuous, Bradshaw perhaps being the best.

The game was not played true to rules as several changes were made during the period. The final line-up was as follows:

McGill
Full back, McGregor
Three-quarters, Bradshaw
Alden Evans
McDougall Woodcombe
Witherow McInerney
Halves,
Scriven Curran
Turner Bourque

SUPERB KICKING BY TORONTO BACKS GAVE BLUE AND WHITE SQUAD 13-0 VICTORY OVER MCGILL ON SATURDAY

McGill Outplayed in Kicking Game — Hughes Had an Off Day — Varsity Have Strong Backfield — Marvellous End Run by Snyder and Soanes — McGill Fumbled Badly Throughout Game — Fumble Lost Them the Ball on Varsity 5-yard Line — McGill and Varsity About Equal on Line — Somerville Kicked Nice Drop — Crowd Estimated at 16,000 — Saw Interesting Polo Game at Half Time — Prince of Wales Present.

(Special to the McGill Daily.)

Varsity Stadium, Toronto Oct. 11. —Coach Newton's Blue and White Rugby squad won the opening game of the Intercollegiate schedule here today by the score of 13 to 0. The Varsity squad had a decided advantage in the kicking and it was this factor of the contest that decided the issue. The Snyder, Pequegnat, Somerville combination out-kicked Hughes and succeeded in piling up thirteen points. In all the Varsity halves kicked for eight tries and the other points were made by a safety touch and a drop kick. Somerville kicked the drop kick line without being tackled but the fumble, Snyder attempted for drop kicks in all, but none of them were successful. Somerville's drop kick was one of two attempts. Hughes tried three during the afternoon, but all failed. The rouse came from the boot of Warren Snyder, who was in great form and had much the better of Hughes. The latter, however, certainly was off colour as he showed much better kicking ability in the M. A. A. game, and at that game he only been at two or three practices. The fact is that the whole McGill team seemed to be off colour and not playing their game with the usual snap. It was not the same team that downed the Winged Wheelers a fortnight ago. Fumbles were frequent and proved to be costly. On one occasion the Red and White team were in possession on Varsity's five yard line and ready to go over for a touch. The score at the time was only two to nothing against them and a touch would have given them a good lead and the required bit of confidence. However, on the first down, one of the backs fumbled and Varsity gained possession, and did not take long to boot the ball out of the danger zone. McGill never had such an opportunity after. A fumble also cost them two points later in the game when on their own three yard line the ball was snapped over the goal line to Hughes whose play was to kick it out. Unfortunately Hughes fumbled and although Little recovered, he was downed behind his own line for a safety. The McGill line seemed to be holding strong and were about on par with Varsity. Each team made yards four times which showed that they were about equal in strength in this department. However, neither team depended much on line plays, being satisfied for the most part in playing a kicking game. Varsity very often were kicking on the first down. The whole thing in a nut-shell is that Snyder was out-kicking Hughes and, helped by fumbles, was little by little piling up points. McGill were beaten in much the same way as they had beaten the M. A. A. team two weeks previous. Varsity also contributed their share of fumbles but not in such a great measure as McGill and managed to recover often. Varsity's great fault was being off-side and they had also many penalties imposed were penalized frequently for this, on them for holding and interference.

TORONTO BACKFIELD STARS

The Varsity stars were undoubtedly in the back-field for it was a game in which a half back could star. The great Snyder of course was the most brilliant of them all in his kicking and his end running, but Pequegnat and Somerville also played a great game. The Snyder-Pequegnat end run was a marvel and went often for 30 yards. The most brilliant play of the afternoon was an end run executed by Snyder, Soanes and Somerville. Snyder took the ball at his own 20 yard line and ran 40 yards, and when about to be tackled passed to Soanes, who dodged through seven or eight McGill men and then passed to Somerville. Somerville ran over the goal line without being tackled but the ball was called back to the 15 yard line, where he had received it from Soanes because the latter had continued running and was penalized for interference. Though the run did not go for a touchdown it was nevertheless a marvellous play and one of the best ever seen at Toronto stadium. The actual gain on this run was 15 yards.

CAMERON PLAYED WELL

Of the McGill team, no particular man could be chosen as a star, although there were four men whose work was good at all times. Bones Little of course played hard and was responsible in bringing down a good many Blue and White ball carriers. Miller, at outside, played a hard game and was successful in getting under the kicks and did some excellent tackling. Cameron, while he was on in the last half played a great game and was a wonder considering the fact that it was his first senior game. His tricky runs were pretty to watch and many times he ran the ball out when it looked as if his task was almost a hopeless one. His first showing in senior company certainly urges well for his success. To Alex Moore, however, goes the credit of the best play that a McGill man made during the game. He gathered up the fumble and ran 11 ft was the Red and White snap who yards to Varsity's five yard line. It put the McGill team in a great position to score but as it happened a fumble played havoc with their chances.

About sixteen thousand spectators turned out to fill the big Varsity Stadium to capacity. The day was ideal from a spectators point of view but was rather too warm for the players. The crowd was only mildly enthusiastic and it remained for the Varsity rooters to do the cheering. The several thousand that occupied the bleachers kept up a continual howl all afternoon and roared out their yells while the people in the stand across the field listened, being satisfied that the day was a bit too warm for yelling. The 48th Highlanders Band played at intervals and also rendered the National Anthem just before the kick-off. At times a feeble McGill yell floated across the field from the fifty or so supporters who made the trip. However, the Varsity stand was as generous to the McGill squad as to its own team and howled forth the McGill war-cry on several occasions.

PILGRIMS TO THE GAME

Among the fifty McGill supporters sat two men who deserve to have their name in the Hall of Fame or at any rate in the paper. These two gentlemen, determined to see the game, and being financially distressed at the moment decided to (what is vulgarly known as) "bum" their way up to the game. It must be said for them that they went about it in a truly intelligent and efficient manner. Instead of riding the bunkers like a pair of ordinary tramps, they boldly seated themselves in the Pullman occupied by the team. Everything went well or nearly so until the train arrived at Smith's Falls. The conductor, in the meantime, had been busy counting the number of men which on every occasion totalled twenty-six. And the amazing thing about it all was that he had received only twenty-four tickets. At the so-called Hub of Eastern Ontario he refused to be "buffaloed" any longer, and promptly threw our heroes off the train. They were last seen plodding along the ties sans hat or coat, which they had forgotten in their hasty exit. It developed later that the conductor, being slightly riled at the false pretences practised on him, wired ahead to Belleville, reporting the matter and sending a description of the culprits. Two detectives were sent on the trail and located them on a west-bound freight train. The "bums" apparently did not appreciate the spirit of our two enthusiasts, for they demanded that they pay their fare. Even a Pullman is better than a cell, and our heroes promptly paid up. They arrived at their goal in time for the game, and thanked their stars that they did not arrive in the goal instead. When interviewed at the King Edward this morning by the "Daily" they confided to us that they intended to "bum" their way back. Unfortunately, their names are withheld at their own request, as they are both retiring modest young men, and unused to the ways of an admiring world. However, anyone who will journey up to the Stadium any time while the team is practising may be able to pick them out, as they are both very active helpers for the squad.

KNIGHTS OF THE ROAD

Two other gentlemen also found a novel means of getting to Toronto without spending a ridiculous amount of hard cash. These two set out on foot and succeeded likewise in arriving in the city in time for the game. Their experiences were not so varied as their fellow travellers' nor for the most part as hazardous as they were given several lifts that brought them as far as Kingston. Here they fell in with a party of Queen's students that were making the trip to Toronto by auto and who took them the rest of the journey. How these two got back to Montreal is still mystery as deep as an Oppenheim novel and nothing is known of their adventures.

PRINCE AT POLO GAME

Besides the intercollegiate fixture, there was another hotly contested fray that was staged although it did not appear on the program. It was played a relaxation from the game and brought a demonstration from the hitherto indifferent crowd. Probably it was because the Prince of Wales or alias the Prince opened the match or perhaps it was the battle itself. It took the shape of a polo game and was opened by a young man in a P. of E. hat, slouch style, and carrying a cane, and smoking a cigarette. Of course, when he refused to be snapped by the camera the crowd recognized his shyness and greeted

Both Years of M.S.P.E. Nearing Finals

The M. S. P. E. First and Second Year Tennis Tournaments have practically reached the Third Round and it is hoped that the first of this week will see the play-off for the finals.

In the Second Year Tournament Miss H. Taitan already a player of renown is showing her usual good form and Miss M. Robertson is also playing a game of very high calibre.

In the First Year there are several players of note Miss M. Raith especially, is displaying some excellent tennis.

A great deal of interest and enthusiasm has been shown in the tournaments so far, and as they draw to the finish there is much speculation as to who will come out champions.

IT TAKES COLLEGE STUDENTS TWO YEARS TO LEARN TO WORK

"It takes students about two years to learn how to work, after they leave college, and then they go ahead faster than those who have not had college training." This is a statement made by Lillian Palmer, a professional business woman of San Francisco who has had the opportunity to know how college students stand in the "business world." We expect more of college students," continued Miss Palmer, "if a man bought a cheap car and drove it to Lake Tahoe he would not mind a great if it went to pieces. But if he put his money into a very expensive car he would expect it to go to Lake Tahoe many times."

After Palmer says that she does not believe in a better world.

CO-EDS OF OHIO DRESSED AS MEN AT RECENT PROM.

Approximately 50 co-eds walked unwillingly to classes in the hampering restriction of their feminine apparel recently at Ohio State University, worry that the game of being a boy could last no longer than the duration of their Prom. THE MCGILL UNION.

For many years after its opening almost two decades ago, the McGill Union was a club equalling any on this continent for beauty of interior finish and excellence of service and appointments. To-day much of the former grandeur and magnificence of the building has vanished. No longer are doormen in livery posted at the entrances; no longer do waiters in faultless uniforms serve tables set with dishes of solid silver. The change from past to present seems great, yet after all it is a change in external appearance only. And, one way at least, it has probably proved beneficial. It has surely made the Union easier of access to the freshmen. They must feel more at home and more at ease within the building than many of their predecessors did years ago.

However that may be, the Union is certainly still the centre of student life, the one place where all university men may come together on a common footing irrespective of classes or faculties. With the passing of the years the building has grown more and more a part of the university. It is the accepted meeting-place for all school organizations, whether they be athletic, social, or intellectual, and as such has become almost indispensable to the students. But it has probably a greater value as a place where McGill men may gather informally, where they may eat, read or talk among their fellow-students in a true university atmosphere.

Undoubtedly, the high purpose intended for it by its donor, Sir William Macdonald, and by those associated with him, in making a reality of their dreams for a common student centre is still being carried out by the Students' Union of McGill.

CONDENSED COMMENT.

Interest in college rugby was given a decided impetus when McGill met Varsity last Saturday at Toronto in the first game of the intercollegiate series. A crowd estimated at sixteen thousand assembled at the stadium and saw the red and white warriors taste of defeat at the hands of a well-balanced opposing team. Even those to whom that form of sport is most familiar were in doubt previous to the game as to its outcome. Witnesses of the contest affirm that both squads are superior in many respects to the teams which represented the two universities last year. In the light of this there is reason to believe that the championship will be more keenly contested than it has been for several years.

With a strong R. C. M. P. team as opponents, the McGill soccer squad credited itself with victory Saturday on the old campus. The space allotted was well filled with interested spectators, but mainly citizens of Montreal. Although soccer is a minor sport it is worthy of as much support as any other form of athletics.

Grave doubts are entertained as to the present resting place of two students who set out for Toronto on Friday last with the intention of getting there by subtle means. Discarded articles of clothing are the only clues available to prove that they have either arrived at or passed through Kingston. No doubt the temperature was higher at the limestone city. We commend the spirit that actuated them to attempt the journey, and hope that the fates will not be too unkind to them on their return journey — if they do return.

A regrettable case of mistaken identity occurred at the rugby game at Toronto. A certain sport writer of that city referred to the McGill mascot as a "collic dog." If such were possible we would condemn that writer to a few years in the frozen north, where he would soon learn that dogs are dogs, be they mongrels, collies, hounds or pups, but huskies are huskies, separate and distinct.

This week will see some hard work on the part of all players in view of the fast-approaching games with Varsity. The forwards will be given scrum practice till a slightly later hour each day, as lights are to be installed on the smaller field. On Tuesday it is likely a game will be attempted between the two college teams and every man is urged to be out to all practices, as condition will count when the stiff games come along. A new idea is being tried out which should meet with unanimous approval. Monday night a table is being set aside in the Union for the English Rugby men, and a first class meal will be served at 7 o'clock for which a charge will be made of 35 cents. The game will be discussed and advice handed out during the serving of the supper, so that any difficulties may be straightened out before the next practice. Everyone interested in the game is invited to attend and make the proceedings a success, in which event, other evenings will be set aside throughout the week. All indications are that team will be a well-balanced one, since the new men are showing up well, and coupled with the experienced players from last year's outfit, a fighting fifteen is guaranteed.

SCIENCE FOOTBALL SQUAD TURNS OUT

The Science football squad was out in full force for the initial practice of the team. Manager Kyle had the boys going through their stuff and quite a lot of good material was brought to light.

Getting down under kicks occupied the greater part of the session and the wings had plenty of chance to show their worth. The diminutive Hyman was doing the booting with Smith, Knowlton and Coleman on the receptive end. Hyman showed his usual trickiness while running in a broken field and should prove very effective in his position at quarter. George Vernet is out for the line along with Findlay, Rowe and Merrill. Slattery turned in some nice tackling and should make a strong bid for an outside berth.

The next practice will be held this afternoon when some of last year's stand bys are expected out. Dingman, Anson, Gill, Parsons and Almond are yet to be heard from.

When she got there

R.C.M.P. WERE DEFEATED BY SOCCER TEAM

Good, Clean Football Game on Saturday

SCORE 2—0

McGill Proved Faster and in Better Condition Than the Mounties

The McGill Soccer team justified all the expectations of its supporters on Saturday by defeating the R. C. M. P. by a score of 2-0. The day was an ideal one for such a match, and as a consequence there was a good crowd on the campus watching the game.

Promptly at two o'clock the opposing team faced each other, and the R. C. M. P. captain won the toss elected to kick to the north goal. For the first few minutes of the game, the visitors had the play going along just as they pleased, and not once did the ball leave the McGill half of the field. This was due partially to the lack of team-work on the part of the Red and White players, for on many occasions when one of the men had the ball he failed to get it to one of his own side at the correct moment, with the result that the opposing players were able to out-manoeuvre them. However, this state of affairs was not of long duration, for very soon the McGill men commenced working together, and after a series of brilliant low passes and clever head work, Balfour from outleft succeeded in netting the first goal, by a high fast drive, which passed only a few inches below the bar and would be exceedingly difficult to save in any position.

This goal seemed all that was necessary to give the McGill team the required assurance for they assumed a splendid offensive, and as the confidence of the men increased, there was a very noticeable improvement in their combination. This resulted in Scott shooting another goal, which he scored from a very difficult angle. The R. C. M. P. were forced to play a defensive game, and even they did break through the forward and half line, the McGill backs who supplemented each others efforts all the time, always succeeded in urging back the ball to the forward line. The left wing of the McGill team combined beautifully, and treated the on-lookers to some excellent football. The Red and White men, although feeling the burden of their opponents heavier weight, had the advantage in condition, the R. C. M. P. men giving evidence of a great distress at half-time, while the winners hardly showed any sign of partaking in vigorous exercise.

When it is remembered that this was the first game of the season, it is surprising how well the speed of the game was maintained, for with the exception of a few intervals, the men were always kept moving.

The game was an excellent exhibition of clean sport, for although many men were forced to measure their entire lengths on the field, the charging was of the good honest type, and it was only in cases of absolute necessity that this method of out-playing an opponent was adopted. The R. C. M. P. are to be congratulated on the plucky fight they staged against their lighter and faster opponents, and it is the desire of all that another match should be arranged between the two teams at an early date, so that the losers may have an opportunity to try and avenge their recent defeat.

The following was the line-up:—
McGill: Davidson, Cave, Stephenson, Heiwig, Archdale, Giovando, Balleny, Moffatt, Seaton, Scott, and Shippan.
R. C. M. P.: Holiba, Kyle, Binko, Raymond, O'Sullivan, Salt, Thomson, Tapp, Coule, Richard, Lowson.

SUPERB KICKING BY TORONTO BACKS

him with a roar. The Prince was attended by several society women, among whom was Miss Minnie Skeets of Lachine. Miss Skeets was attired in a charming red dress as was other society leaders. The Prince shook hands with the men of both teams and the referee was charmingly clad in a long cricket coat and black castor hat and rode on the field on a bicycle. After giving the men a two minute talk warning them about holding and hitting in the clefches he placed the football in the field and the great international game was on. Play of course was rough because of the size of the ball but the Greys succeeded in scoring twice. Then one horse of the first down carried the ball over for a touch putting his team in the lead.

A horse on the grey team broke a leg in the scrimmage and was shot by the referee. A member of the Toronto Street Cleaning Dept. appeared on the scene with his push cart and removed the carcass. He then returned with his cart and with a shovel puts the gridiron in a fit condition for the continuation of the rugby game. The Varsity rogues covered the retreat of the polo

A CORRECTION.

In the Saturday issue of the "Daily," a passage in an article said that the McGill Intercollegiate Golf team had been 'overwhelmingly defeated' in the games held in Toronto last year. This is absolutely wrong. As a matter of fact, McGill won the Intercollegiate title after a very close struggle, and now holds the Championship Cup.

The mistake was made, of course, quite unintentionally, and was due to a misunderstanding on the part of a reporter.

teams by putting on a colour exhibition with red, white and blue papers. The game was a good one but was marred by the accident when the horse broke its leg and another horse suffered the misfortune of losing its tail.

MCGILL'S NEW MASCOT.

McGill have a new Mascot this year in a big husky that McCombe brothers brought with them from Alberta. "Jerry" played his first game to-day and led the Red and White team on the field. At half-past two, the teams lined up and Varsity kicked off. McGill played with the aim at their backs. Varsity started right off at a fast clip and began playing their kicking and running game. McGill fumbled several times and Hughes was finally downed for a rouge. Moore grabbed a Varsity fumble and ran 10 yards. McGill were on their opponents 5 yards line but lost the ball on the first down when the ball carrier fumbled. Snyder continued his stellar kicking and although Varsity were frequently called back for off-sides and interference the Toronto half again kicked for a rouge. Snyder and Soames ran about 75 yards on an end run, but when the ball was passed to Somerville and Soames continued running it was declared interference play and the play was resumed on McGill's 15 yard line. Somerville had gone over the goal line untackled. It was a close call for McGill. Snyder failed in a drop kick the ball going to the dead line for a rouge. The play saw-sawed with Hughes and Snyder in a kicking duel, the latter having a decided advantage. Snyder finally kicked 50 yards for a rouge. The score at half time was Varsity 4; McGill 0.

The kicking game of the Varsity halves continued and when Snyder kicked to the dead line in an attempt at a drop another point was added to the score. McGill again got in a dangerous position when the ball was fumbled but recovered on their own 3 yard line. Hughes was held for a safety touch when the ball was snapped back. In an exchange of punts Toronto gained an end running again brought the ball down the field towards the McGill goal. Snyder kicked for the fifth time. Cameron went on for Hughes and played a good game. Hughes came back on for Hanna and a few minutes later was downed for a rouge when he tried to "run out Snyder's long kick. Cameron was having better luck than Hughes in running out the kicks as his whiffy running seemed to puzzle the Varsity tacklers. Somerville tried a drop and the ball went neatly over the bar for three points. It was the last score of the game. The game ended with Varsity 13; McGill 0.

The teams lined up as follows:—

8. Snyder	Inside	Olusasco
11. Strollery	Middle	Pugh
Kling		J. McCombe

JACK WRIGHT WINS TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP.

Crocker kept right on going strongly in the third set and when the score stood at 2-1, broke through Wright's service. Wright however came back hard and took Crocker's in turn, making the score 2-2. Crocker leading. Wright looked like a sure win in the next game when he led at forty to fifteen but Crocker got the next four points and the game. He then won his own service, dropped Wright, and took his own on a love game, giving him the set 6-3. During this set, which was really very closely fought, Crocker sent up numerous high lobs to Wright, who did not seem to be sure of himself on the kills.

After the one minute rest Crocker came on leading at 2 sets to 1, and seemed to be making sure of the match by breaking Wright's service in the first game and taking his own to love. The games stood 2-0 for Crocker. He seemed to let up a little on the next game and Wright took it easily. Wright also broke his opponents service and took the next three games making the score 5-2. Crocker braced up on his serve and took it after it went to deuce—5-3 for Wright.

The next game was a fight all the way through and Wright just managed to win it after three deuces. Fourth set to Wright 6-3, making the sets two all. In the third set the game went to 2 all when Wright broke through. He was playing his best at that time and had his overhand working well. Crocker tried job again but Wright smashed nearly every one for an ace. His service was also going well, and had a big enough break on it to let him get to the net to volley Crocker's returns. Crocker was weakening but put everything he had into the game and many points were hardly contested. Wright however held the lead at 5-2 and won his own service to fifteen giving him the match.

The Intercollegiate tennis starts next week and if Wright is playing as he was on Saturday, there should be no doubt of the outcome.

The McGill Tennis Club is greatly indebted to the Mount Royal Tennis Club for use of umpire's chair and green bunting.

Short Dialogues. "I will never marry a pretty woman because it's too much trouble looking after her."

"I will never make a lot of money because I'll have to pay income tax on it."

Frozen Montreal, Montreal has calmly accepted the judgment that it is a cold hard-to-move theatre town, and this has, curiously enough, become one of the city's proudest boasts. The man who passed this judgment was, however, not specific enough. Perhaps Montreal is cold and somewhat irresponsible. But it is not the coldness of a reserved and dignified person, who when the occasion occurs shows some degree of warmth, or at least, of appreciation. It is coldness of a dead person awaiting burial. The few times that it has been brought to life have not been caused by a genuine resurrection but by the hocus-pocus of spiritualistic methods. It is not roused, to mention but one instance, by a Messiah like "The Swan," but comes to life to such for such crystal-gazing cooing as "Via Crucis," which has as much business in the theatre as the "Ziegfeld Follies" in a place of worship—although the exchange may not in some quarters be considered as quite fair.

Counterfeit. Marriage, as has often been pointed out, often disappoints a woman much more than it does a man for the reason that the heart of a woman seldom changes after marriage, and the same diet of romantic outpourings which kept it alive in the courtship days is needed for the convalescent stages after the ceremony. Man, however, is not so constituted. Thus, what hurts her most is that whereas before marriage man tries to gain admittance into that great steel vault which holds the most precious possession, her heart, much in the same manner of a Jimmy Valentine, after marriage he expects to make the same impression by going about it in the same manner of a trusted clerk getting his books out of the safe for day's business.

Note after reading "The American Magazine," I sometimes hesitate to pray for success in the fear that it will make me like the other successful men.

ROOTERS' BAND BEING ORGANIZED

Hope to Make Trip to Kingston

Great efforts are being made to get the Rooters' Band firmly established and organized to help along with the game this coming Saturday. Toronto Varsity has not as yet been able to produce a Rooter's Band but calls on the Mounties for support, whereas Queens, it is rumored, is trying hard to organize a band for their home games.

In endeavouring to make the trip to Kingston with the team possible, arrangements are being made to raise the necessary funds. One plan is being arranged whereby the band will play at one of the Local Theatres in town as well as playing in the football field.

At present there are thirty musicians enrolled in the band, composed of seven cornets, three trombones, two alto horns, one baritone, one bass, one flute, four clarinets, four saxophones, five spare drums, cymbals and base drum. There is still needed another cornet player, another baritone and another bass player as well as more flutes and piccolos to bring the band up to full strength. All the above instruments except the flutes and piccolos can be supplied if only the men will turn out to play them.

The uniform this year is to be white flannels McGill coat sweaters and black bow ties. All bandmen requiring any of above outfit, please tell the managers at the next practice, for if large quantities are required a reduced price may be obtained.

The next practice will be Tuesday evening from seven to eight in the Ball Room of the Union. It is important that all members be sharp on time as Bandmaster Gagnier will be present to coach the band. Those who cannot possibly attend please phone Bob Logan at Ptn. 0474 between one and two o'clock or after six to-day.

THE EDUCATIONAL VALUE OF MUSIC

Subject of Mr. F. H. Blair's Lecture

The Music Club will hold its first meeting of the season on Thursday, the twenty-third of this month Mr. F. H. Blair will give a lecture on "The Educational Value of Music".

Mr. Blair is prominent in musical circles in this city and is well-known not only as a musician, but also as a teacher. The subject which he has chosen for his address is a very pertinent one in these days when the tendency is for people to take a rather superficial view of Music;—to consider its value solely as a source of entertainment.

In addition to the address a short musical programme is being arranged. The details cannot be given at this date from the fact that one or two of Montreal's prominent singers will take part as well as a trio composed of club members. Full details will be published in due course.

The meeting will no doubt elicit widespread interest among the members of the club and a full attendance is anticipated. The reputation of the speaker should in itself be sufficient to assure this, apart from the attention which his subject will create. A good musical programme always appeals, and in this case, in the quality, at least, it will leave nothing to be desired.

A short business meeting will precede the address.

The exact place where the meeting will be held has not yet been decided, but it will be at the home of one of the officers of the club and will be announced later.

PSYCHOLOGISTS MEET SOCIETY UNDER WAY

The Executive of The Psychological Society met last week and an interesting session is projected. On the first Wednesday of each month the society will be addressed by some prominent man and this address will be followed by open discussion. McGill's psychologists and all those who delight in delving into the mysteries of hypnosis and kindred studies or who are in any ways interested in psychology, both pure and applied, are invited.

LAW RUGBY TEAM DEFAULTS TO MEDICINE

The first rugby game of the inter-faculty series which was scheduled for this afternoon went to Medicine, as Law have defaulted. This would seem to indicate that the latter team are not going to offer serious opposition in the inter-faculty race this year. However the other teams are reported to be strong and the competition for the Woods Cup should be particularly keen.

RUGBY RESULTS WERE RECEIVED AT UNION

Arrangements made by the Daily enabled reports by quarters of the Varsity-McGill game in Toronto on Saturday to be announced at the Union throughout the afternoon. The score of the quarter was first received and chalked up on the blackboard in the cafeteria. Shortly after, the telegram giving a good running account of the play in that quarter would arrive and be read out to the assembled undergraduates.

Up until half-time reports, not very large crowds were present, but on the conclusion of the Crocker-Wright tennis match the students flocked to the Union and when the score at the end of the third quarter was announced the cafeteria was filled from end to end.

Scores indicating the progress of the Argos-M.A.A.A. and Ottawa-Tigers games were also posted, but few took very great interest in the way these encounters were going, and when the final count in the inter-collegiate game was learned, the crowd soon disappeared.

TO ORGANIZE GIRL GUIDE CADET CORPS

It has been decided to organize a Girl Guide Cadet Corps for students in the Royal Victoria College and the School of Physical Education who are interested in Girl Guides and who would like to qualify to become officers.

Meetings will be held once a week (for one and a half hours) from now till the end of April.

Students who are interested in this project should sign the list posted for that purpose on the R. V. C. A. A. notice board, and consult Miss Harvey who will be in charge of the Corps and the organization. Students should also watch the notice board for notices concerning the first meeting.

MY MASTER HATH A GARDEN.

My master hath a garden, full-filled with divers flowers
Where thou mayst gather posies gay, all times and hours
Here nought is heard
But paradise-dird,
Harp, dulcimer, and lute,
With cymbal,
And timbrel,
And the gentle sounding flute.
Oht Jesus, Lord, my heart and soul,
My bliss complete,
Make thou my heart thy garden-plot,
True, fair and neat,
That I may hear
This music clear,
Harp, dulcimer, and lute,
With cymbal
And timbrel,
And the gentle sounding flute.
Amen.

CERCLE WILL HOLD INITIAL MEETING SOON

One Meeting a Week This Year

MANY ADVANTAGES

French Society Proves Great Aid to McGill Students

The first meeting of the Cercle Francais will be held Wednesday, Oct. 15. It was announced that the meeting would be on Tuesday but the date has been put forward one day. All men students interested in the French Language are asked to be present. If this initial meeting is well attended, it will augur well for the success of the cercle for the session of 1924-1925.

Last year several successful meetings of the men's French society took place, but it was felt that there were not enough; so the plans for this year include one meeting a week beginning this Wednesday and continuing throughout the session.

The cercle offers training in the use of the French tongue, debating public speaking. Prominent men as well as members of the French department are secured to give talks on French literature and current topics. The Cercle Francais is of inestimable aid to those intending to practice law in this province who have not yet mastered the language and to students from outside of the Province of Quebec who desire to make the best of their stay in this French-speaking community. Besides the advantages above enumerated there is the very important one of this society being an excellent social medium; it gives an opportunity to students of getting together and becoming acquainted.

Among the many activities in store for the Cercle Francais this year are two projected joint meetings with the Societe Francaise, the corresponding French club at the R. V. C. The first of these will take place in the immediate future and the other will be next term.

CHEMICAL CLUB TO COMMENCE ACTIVITIES

The Chemical Industry Club will hold its first meeting of this session this afternoon at 5 p.m. All members in the third and fourth years in Science and the Honour Course in Chemistry are expected to be present as four officers have to be elected from among them. As mentioned in a previous notice, membership is not restricted but open to any undergraduate interested in Industrial Chemistry. It is particularly incumbent on all the first and second year men, who intend to take up Chemical Engineering and an Honour Course in Chemistry, to attend, as in the future they will have to carry on the club and furthermore the visiting of chemical plants is a great educative factor.

The meeting will be held in Room 2, or some other room, in the Chemistry Building. So all interested bear this in mind and let the club get away to a good start.
